I agree, I think this is similar to what we did for 10 SVN. When an applicant is trying to move the same project forward, just needs a new approval (based on CEQA being overturned or modifications to conditions of approval, etc.), I think it makes sense to use the same record number with -02. When the project is being revised (design, SDB, etc.), we should open a new record. Let me know if this poses any issues.

Best,
Liz

Hi Erica:

Great question. @Watty, Elizabeth (CPC) can we please get your take here?

469 Stevenson (version 2.0) is back and will need a new family or records (e.g. DNX, CUA, SHD, TDM, ENV). I think Erica's suggestion of retaining the same record #, with the -02 suffix added at the end (e.g. 2017-014833DNX-02) makes sense. Agree? FYI, EP is using the same record (2017-014833ENV) for their T&M billing. Perhaps they should have created the -02 record as well to distinguish the two review periods for what is, ostensibly, the same project?

Thanks,

Hi Nick,

Will this require a new TDM (TDM-02), or does the attachment just need to be uploaded to the existing TDM record?

Thank you,
